for Students and Adults

Before becoming an Augustinian friar, Martin Luther was a law student at Erfurt University. He had earned a Masters degree by age 22. This is the inspiration for “The University,” a contest where students of all ages can submit projects showcasing something they have learned about Martin Luther or the Reformation/Renaissance.

Historic events, famous people, everyday life, art, music, architecture, science, weaponry, geographic exploration, inventions, government, religion, philosophy, or any subject that interests the student may be featured.

Projects will be judged by the “University Chancellor,” and top honors awarded in five age categories.
